Recycled RAGS handmade into beautiful inspired designer purses

What were once scraps of cloths that will join the rest of the country's garbage are transformed into useful and elegant pieces of rags by a mother's co-operative in the Philippines. These rags are made in solid colors and durable cotton or brushed. Each piece went through careful weaving, quality control, and selection. They do not just fit perfectly into any home interior, they also carry with them stories of hope and transformation. There is the story of the cloths that were transformed from garbage to style. And there is the story of transformation of the mothers' from laborers to value-makers.

All purses are designed by a popular designer in the Philippines.
